

Chapter 3

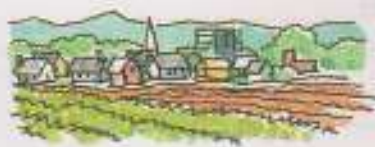

I had to hurry. "I'm going to pull you up," I said.
I got my rope and threw it to Miss Snow.

Carrot and I pulled Miss Snow up.
"Thank you! Thank you! You saved me," she said.
"Are you okay?" I asked.
"Yes...I think so. My arm hurts a little, but I'm okay," she answered.

"Great," I said. "Do you want to go back to town?"

I can take you back to Peach Road."

"Yes, please, Ranger Day," said Miss Snow. "I have enough flowers now."

We said good-bye at Peach Road. I rode Carrot to Eagle Valley.

In Eagle Valley, I met some college students and their teacher.
 "Hello! I'm Ranger Day. Is everything okay?" I asked.
 The teacher answered, "Hello, Ranger Day. I'm Miss Wood.
 We're studying a family of eagles. The biggest eagles are here in Eagle Valley."

"Look, Ranger Day. Do you see the eagle in the tree?
 That's the mother. She's big and fast," said Miss Wood.
 "But that one in the sky is bigger and faster. That's the father."
 The two birds flew away.

"Miss Wood! Miss Wood!" shouted a student.
"What's wrong?" asked Miss Wood.
"There's a bobcat," said the student. "And it's going up to the eagle's nest!"

"I think it's going to eat the baby eagle!" said Miss Wood.
"Where are the mother and father?" asked the student.

I saw the small eagle and the bobcat. The students wanted to help the eagle, but the nest was very high. They shouted at the bobcat, but it didn't go away.

"Don't worry, I'm going to help the eagle. I'm going to climb up to the nest and scare away the bobcat."

"Be careful, Ranger Day!" said Miss Wood.
