

Mike: Where are you going with that towel, Jon?

Jon: I'm going to the swimming pool. I always go swimming on Saturdays.

Mike: Can I go swimming with you?

Jon: Is it okay with your mother?

Mike: Yes. I'm sure it's okay. I got an A on my math test, so she told me I can play this afternoon.

Jon: Okay, get your swimsuit and towel, and let's go!

- ❖ Can you swim?
- ❖ Where can you go swimming? When?
- ❖ What do you do in the afternoon?
- ❖ When do you use a towel?

Make a sentence: I want to _____ this afternoon.

Read each sentence.

Circle the subject.

Underline the verb.

1. I am going to the swimming pool.
2. My mother told me that I could play this afternoon.
3. My swimsuit and towel are in my bedroom.
4. My cat is sick, so it doesn't want to eat food.
5. She likes to listen to music.
6. David finishes his homework every day.
7. Linda can swim, but she said the water is too cold.
8. My little brother thinks comic books are interesting.
9. I hope I can go to Mexico someday.
10. Can you lend me your pencil, please?