

Lost – Part 1

A. Reading

Jamie is lost in the woods. He left his hiking group to explore on his own. Now he realizes that he shouldn't have separated from the hiking group. He should have listened to the hiking leader. He also should have brought a trail map with him. Most importantly, he shouldn't have left all his food supplies in his wife's backpack. Furthermore, he probably shouldn't have been listening to music while the hiking leader explained wilderness survival skills. As it starts to get dark, Jamie realizes that he should have built a shelter. He should have gathered branches for his shelter while there was still daylight. He also shouldn't have forgotten his flashlight at home. If he can just make it back to camp tomorrow, he won't ever be so foolish again.

Lost – Part 2

A. Reading

Jamie's hiking group realizes that Jamie is missing. Everyone is concerned as it begins to get dark. The hiking leader thinks that Jamie might have wandered back to the park entrance. However, when he radios the park warden, they discover that Jamie is not at the park entrance. Everyone begins to fear the worst. Jamie's wife thinks that he may have been eaten by a bear. His friend Paul thinks that he could have been injured and unable to return to the group.

Two days later, the group is still extremely worried about Jamie alone in the forest without supplies. Some people fear that he may have frozen to death, while others fear that he may have become weak from starvation.

Lost – Part 3

A. Reading

Three days after being lost in the wilderness, Jamie finally makes it back to camp. He is reunited with his hiking group and his wife. They are all happy and relieved to see him. Jamie is relieved to be alive. He could have starved to death in the forest. Jamie didn't have a map, and he could have wandered further into the forest instead of finding his way back. He could have even frozen to death or been attacked by wild animals. He could have fallen and hurt himself and never made it back. He feels grateful to have survived!
